

WANTED

District Lay Supervisors

From next year, all Methodist ministers in the District are required to be under supervision from a trained supervisor. In many cases the Superintendent will be the supervisor, but to cover all the District ministers we will need lay supervisors too.

You will be expected to attend a four-day training course (two sessions of two days each) after which you will be responsible for supervising up to four ministers, each one requiring six 90-minute meetings during the year

This is a major time commitment for both supervisors and supervisees and for it to work well the involvement of lay supervisors is essential.

Please contact Alison McNish at the District Office for further information and for a more detailed role description.
